American Digger® Magazine Freelance Author's Agreement:

To avoid duplications and complications with other publications, we cannot accept simultaneous submissions of the same work to multiple publications. We also require that articles have not been previously published anywhere, including the internet. (Once published by us, the submitted work remains your property to do with as you wish.) On very rare occasions, we will reprint previously published articles, provided you are the author and fully reference the original publication. As a courtesy, we must also obtain permission from such publications before republishing. Your signature below confirms:

- 1) the submitted piece was written by you, the claimed author
- 2) has not been previously published unless noted
- 3) has either been rejected or not sent to any other publications
- 4) photos are properly credited and permission has been given to publish
- 5) person (s) appearing in photographs have given their permission to publish them

Your signature releases American Digger® from any claims or legal matters made to the contrary by others.
